Max Sowaske and Miss Olga Erdman were married on Friday evening at the parsonage of the First Moravian church, Rev. O. A. Mellicke officiating. They left next morning on the St. Paul road on a wedding trip, returning to this city Monday evening.

Both of the young people are well known in this city, the bride being the daughter of Mrs. Wm. Kernis, and a most estimable young lady, and the groom is the popular foreman of the Leader office.

The Tribune extends the heartiest of congratulations.

Stevens Point Journal:—Edwin Bennett and Ben Boyer went to Nekeosha today, where the Kora Shoe company has made arrangements to open a shoe store.

The store will be in charge of the former, the latter returning to Stevens Point to resume his position in the store here.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Joe Corrivau, Our Former Townsman Nearly Goes Up in Smoke.

The following item, from the Houghton Daily Mining Gazette, tells of the narrow escape of Joe Corrivau from meeting a horrible death:

First he literally tore off his overcoat, flung it into the snow, and stamped on it frantically, jumped on it in fact, and ground it into the whiteness. Then, with a smothered curse, off came his other coat, and it followed the first one, and was likewise trampled on. Next the vest was ripped off, and given similar treatment and then he plunged his scorched, blistered hands into the cool snow, where the soothing numbness of cold was grateful to the burning flesh.

Does this picture conjure up before the mind of the reader a man, taken with a sudden fit of madness in the art of taking out his impatient rage on an inoffensive wardrobe? Well might this be meant for that, though it does not in this case. It is a true account of the actions of a well known, well balanced, and very popular traveling man, who makes his headquarters in Houghton, undertook a ride to Phoenix and Eagle River, and had the temerity to smoke Fearless in his pipe in the face of the cold northern wind.

It was Joe Corrivau, more popularly known as Four X Joe, because of the excellence and flavor of the brand of coffee he dispenses. It seems as if Joe must have had one of the world famous Hawley Down's shaft furnaces in that stumpy pipe of his, from the way it insistently belched forth smoke and fire, assiduously depositing the latter in its owner's overcoat pocket.

Spark after spark walked aloft on the breath of the wind, silently found lodgment in that pocket. And this same wind, because of the rapid motion of the traveler, fanned the insignificant sparks into a destructive blaze, which, quietly, unobtrusively, but irresistibly ate its hungry way through the material, and next feasted itself on the finer texture of the next garment. Some have wondered why it was that its owner failed to notice the smell of the burning cloth before the destruction had found time to be quite so disastrous, but this he later explained, was due to the fact that he smoked a brand of tobacco, between the odor of which and the former there is a strong similarity.

In fact, all that saved the man from a fearful, lonely death on the snowy wastes, and a premature grave under nature's funeral shroud, is the sensitiveness of his heart. For when the fire on its ever downward way, had eaten through to the last editions, a burning, stinging pain in the region of that faithful organ apprised him that there was something wrong. Instinctively he clutched the spot, and burned his fingers. Then his nostrils filled with the pungent odor, and instantly he realized that in some unaccountable way he had caught fire.

Then followed the rapid action described in the beginning, the flinging of garment after garment into the saving snow beneath his feet, until of a certainty all danger was passed. Later they were put on again, the pipe was discarded, and the tale was told in Phoenix, where it required several good Havanas for hush money.

Houghton friends of the unwilling victim were not to be so bought off and when the clothes, showing a ragged, burnt hole suggestive of murder, in the region of the heart were spotted, every racial at the popular hostelry knew that something was amiss, and they waited for tales. In the meantime a tailor is working overtime, and Fearless has lost a disciple.

Notice to Parents.

Parents are requested by the Board of Education to co-operate with the teachers in the public schools to keep pupils from playing on the railroad tracks and to have children take due care in crossing the tracks.

Several times in the past few weeks children have come very near being injured by the trains. This has been due in most cases to the carelessness of children either in crossing the tracks or in playing on the tracks on the way to and from school.

Teachers will do all in their power, but if serious injury to children is to be avoided, it will require the earnest co-operation of parents.

HAVE A BIG CLASS.

Foresters Initiate Twenty-five and Finish Evening with a Social Time.

The Catholic Order of Foresters had a big time on Tuesday evening, at which occasion they initiated twenty-five into their order, and after this part of the business there was a banquet served in the Spafford hall of which a large number of members and visitors partook. The initiation of the new members was taken care of by the State team of LaCrosse.

At the banquet J. R. Hagau acted as toastmaster. The following toast were responded to: Our Guests—Dr. F. P. Pongratz. Our Hosts—Atty. D. I. Sichel, steel of Stevens Point.

The Catholic Order of Foresters—State Chief Ranger, John A. Kapora of DePere.

Pius X—State Secretary Gustave Kellor of Appleton.

The Occasion—Judge W. J. Conway.

Till We Meet Again—L. A. Bauman.

After the banquet the members and their friends were entertained at a social dance which was largely attended and thoroughly enjoyed.

It was a most pleasant evening from start to finish, those in attendance entering into the spirit of the occasion and the guests expressed with themselves as highly pleased with the manner in which they were entertained.

The fifth annual convention of the 10th district of the Wisconsin State Federation of Women's Clubs will be held at Merrill on May 8th and 9th. Base Ball Notes.

It's the Grand Rapids Tigers this year.

The Tigers took their first practice Tuesday afternoon at the High school Park. The vim and dash, displayed, would have made the "dullest fan" all excitement. Dolin started his eye working and swatted the ball like an old leger. Catcher McConnell dropped the safest kind of bats and beat them out by time enough to "eat lunch." When interviewed afterward they were feeling like "two year olds."

As soon as the weather permits practice will be had after six o'clock in order to give all the lads a chance to get into a "winning stride."

All candidates will hand in their names to Manager Dixon. A spirited and well attended meeting of the ball players was held Tuesday night. After greetings of good fellowship and old acquaintances were exchanged by several of the players on important points in and out of the game. The meeting was voted a success with desires to have them continued. The kindness of the "City Fathers" in tendering the use of the council chamber is appreciated.

Miss Mildred MacKinnon was home from Grafton Hall several days last week to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. MacKinnon. She returned to her studies on Monday, being accompanied by Mr. MacKinnon, who went to Neenah to visit with friends.

MET INSTANT DEATH

Bernhard Goers Falls from Locomotive and is Killed by the Shock.

Bernhard Goers, an employee at the Badger Box & Lumber Co. plant, met instant death on Monday noon in a rather peculiar manner. He had just finished work at noon, and coming out of the factory, noticed a locomotive on the St. Paul track making its way toward the depot. In company with a companion, he ran and caught up with the engine, started to ride toward the depot. He had gone but a short distance, however, when he fell off from the engine onto the track where he lay across the rails.

He was rendered assistance immediately and it was thought at first that he had been simply stunned by the fall, but subsequent developments proved that he was dead.

Justice Brown empaneled a jury and they viewed the remains, after which an adjournment was taken and the body conveyed to Ragan's undertaking establishment to be prepared for burial.

Dr. Hoegman made an examination of the body after the accident and decided that death was due to heart failure. Goers had been sick for some time past, in fact had just returned from Wausau where he had been prostrated during the past winter with an attack of pneumonia. When he left the factory he ran a short distance which undoubtedly overtaxed his heart, and when he fell from the engine he struck his head on the rail, the shock of which undoubtedly aided in extinguishing the spark of life.

His relatives at Wausau were notified of the accident and arrived in the city the same evening and took the remains to Wausau for burial.

Goers was about thirty years of age, unmarried, and has lived at Wausau the greater part of his life. He came here about a year ago to work in the box factory, but was taken sick and returned to Wausau. He had just recovered sufficiently to go to work again. He is survived by an aged mother and a sister who reside at Wausau.

Silver Anniversary.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. MacKinnon was celebrated at their residence on 2nd Avenue on April 26th.

The festivities for the occasion was a dinner given by the host and hostess to their friends and relatives; the invitations being confined, as much as possible to those who had attended the original wedding twenty-five years ago. Notwithstanding all their efforts to get together as many as possible, only two of the original groomsmen and one of the original bridesmaids were present, the rest being scattered or had died, there having been originally six groomsmen and six bridesmaids. The company sat down to dinner to the number of twenty-seven. There were a great many handsome and beautiful silver pieces, but the one that gave the most sincere pleasure was a complete silver service of individual salt cellars, given by the employees of the F. MacKinnon Mfg. Co., in company with the gift was the following letter. To Mr. and Mrs. MacKinnon: Dear Sir and Madam:

Kindly accept this slight token of our respect and esteem that we, the employees of the F. MacKinnon Mfg. Co., do tender you, on this your twenty-fifth anniversary. The gift, while not elaborate, will, we trust, show that we rejoice at your happiness and we sincerely trust that you may be spared to celebrate your golden anniversary, and that the twenty-five years to come will be as happy and pleasant as the past.

Yours very respectfully, Herman Ristow, William Fahl, Ferdinand Betke, Max Jans, Rindol Kester, Joe Wrinberg, Macdonald, William Pinbow, Jos. Hogogor, Jas. Bronson, B. Metzger, John Steh, Chas. Karnatz, Fred Schnabel, W. H. Getts, Herman Wachs, William Rath, W. Ristow Sr., Paul Ristow, Wm. Ristow Jr. and John Schnabel.

The guests from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith, Menasha; Mr. and Mrs. D. MacKinnon, Menasha; Miss Louise MacKinnon, Menasha; Miss Flora MacKinnon, Menasha; Mr. E. M. Platt, Riverside; Mr. D. L. Kimberly, Neenah; Mr. Chas. Smith, Neenah; Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Lawson, Menasha; Alex. Zentler, Appleton; Mrs. Carson Rogers, Chicago, Ill.

Gotch Defeats Beell.

Last Friday night Frank Gotch and Fred Beell met at the Colliseum in Chicago in a catch-as-catch-can match, which resulted in a victory for Gotch, who won the first and third falls. Gotch won the first fall in 26 minutes, and the second in three minutes, and Gotch the third in 14 minutes, Gotch winning both of his falls with the famous toe hold.

Six thousand people witnessed the match, which was said to be one of the fastest ever held in Chicago.

Change at the Consolidated.

James H. Wright has been promoted to the position of assistant manager at the Consolidated, it being the intention of Mr. Mead to devote a portion of his time to outside matters. John Alpine, who is well known in this city, will act as superintendent in the mill.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Passano, who have resided at Port Edwards the past winter, have moved to Rudolph where they will occupy the farm of Chas. Daly.

Gymnastic Exhibition.

On Friday evening of this week, May 3rd, the gymnastic classes of the Lincoln High School will present exercises illustrative of the year's work in gymnastics. Several drills are being prepared by the girls to be given in costume. Our gymnastics is the equal of any in the state in equipment and convenience. The apparatus includes climbing ropes, traveling rings, trapeze, parallel bars, chest weights, horizontal bars, Swedish horse, etc. The most of these apparatuses will be illustrated by the boys and girls on Friday evening. Those interested in what this department of the public schools is doing for the girls and boys will do well to attend the exhibition. High School Gymnasium, Friday, May 3rd. An admission fee of 5 and 10 cents will be charged.

Wausau the Winner

Grand Rapids Fails to Get a Place in the District Declamatory Contest Friday night.

The district declamatory contest held at the Union High School on Friday evening resulted in a decided victory for Wausau, both first and second places being carried off by scholars from that city, while Stevens Point took third place.

Elizabeth Plant, who took as her subject, "Macdonald, Paterfamilias," was first and Marie Thoms, who took as her subject, "The Little Boat," was second, and Merle Young, with "The Swinging Log," took third.

The judges were Mrs. Wm. Wagon, teacher of declamation at Ripon College, Principal Thompson of Columbus and Superintendent Wilson of Fond du Lac.

The two contestants from this city were Robert Thompson, who took as his subject, "Daisy," and Edna Muir, with "Mercedes."

There was a good crowd in attendance, quite a delegation coming down from Wausau and a number from Stevens Point.

Besides the declamations the high school orchestra and the glee club furnished a number of selections between the regular numbers, which were very acceptable.

United in Marriage.

Monday, April 29th, at 8 o'clock at St. Lawrence's Catholic church, Miss Verne Kiedrowski and Steve Ruskus were joined in wedlock. Rev. Koryak officiating. After the ceremony a big wedding dinner was served at the bride's home near ten mile creek, followed by a dance to which a large crowd of relatives and friends were invited. The newly married couple will make their home on the west side, the groom holding a responsible position in the north side paper mill. The Tribune joins their numerous friends in wishing them a happy wedded life.

RUSTIC WINDOW BOX.

Ornamental and Useful Article to Beautify Home.

Instead of using an ordinary green painted window box why not make an artistic one in which the color does not clash with the plants contained in it, but rather harmonizes with them and brings out the beauty of the foliage to the most advantage, asks a writer in Garden.

Such a window box can be made by anyone having usual mechanical ability and will furnish more opportunities for artistic and original design than many other articles of more complicated construction.

The box proper should be made a little shorter than the length of the window to allow for the extra space taken up in trimming and should be narrow enough to fit in the sill, as shown in Fig. 1. If the sill is inclined,

Plan of the Window Box.

As is usually the case, the box will require a greater height in front, to make it set level, as shown in Fig. 2. The box should be well nailed or screwed all over to make it more durable. A number of one-half inch holes should be drilled in the bottom, thus allowing the excess water to run out and prevent rotting the plants and box.

Having completed the bare box, it may be trimmed to suit the fancy of the maker. The design shown in Fig. 1 is very simple and easy to construct but may be replaced with a panel or other design. One form of panel design is shown in Fig. 3.

Trimming having too rough a surface will be found unsuitable for the work, as it is difficult to finish and cannot be split as well as the smooth surface. It should be cut to the proper length before being split and should be fastened on with brads. The half-round hoops of barrels will be found very useful in trimming, especially for filling in purposes, and by using them the operation of splitting is avoided. After the box is trimmed, the inside work should be varnished, in order to thoroughly preserve it, as well as improve its appearance.

SETTING OUT TREES.

Yearly Practice of Planting Trees a Good One.

On our farm we have made it a practice every spring to set out some trees. We choose this season of the year because we have had better success in getting them to grow than we have by planting them in the fall. This has been good not only with forest trees, but also with fruit trees and even shruberies.

Of late years we have been putting our trees along the highway and now we have some beautiful trees growing there. Some of these trees in diameter are now six inches and some are first yearlings.

And these, too, being hardy and sugar maples, have grown as slowly as any trees, almost, that one might choose to set out. In our state, New York, writes E. L. Vincent in Farmers' Review, there is a state law providing for certain tax deductions for setting out trees along the highways, but we have never taken advantage of it, being very well satisfied with the added beauty, as well as the prospective usefulness to us of this trees.

Not far from our place there is a farm with so many trees of the variety mentioned, the sugar maples, along the road that the owner can tap quite a number of orchard right there if he wishes to. The trees have gained a good size now, so that they would be materially injured by careful tapping. There is this great advantage in a sugar bush of this sort. It is easy of access. One need not travel around over rough roads to get to the work. It is easy to get to and clean and the work of gathering the sap is not hard. Some day we will all pay more attention to this matter of setting out trees than we do now, and it will be a great thing for the country when we do.

Feed and Butter Fat. It takes about one-fourth pound of digestible protein, one pound carbohydrates and one and one-fourth ounces of fat over and above the maintenance ration to produce five pounds of four per cent milk. Remember that different lots of the same kind of feed vary in quality. The feeder must watch the individual animal to get the best results.

Must Pull Together. The dairy farmer and the creamery must pull together. The farmer must present his product at the creamery in the best possible condition, and the creamery man must have his end of the business well in hand. Cooperative creameries are profitable only to the extent of painstaking cooperation of all parties concerned.

The Meadow Lark. Prof. Forbes, the state entomologist of Illinois, has estimated that meadow lark as an insect destroyer is worth 90 cents a year to the farmer and that of all birds common to that state, the only one which has nothing to be said in its favor is the English sparrow.

Uncle Allen. "Lots of men who get a reputation for wisdom by not doing any talking," observed Uncle Allen Sparks, "don't dare to talk; they've got too much to conceal."

SOWING GRASS SEED.

Timely Suggestions by Prof. W. J. Spillman, U.S. Department Agriculture.

The importance of good seed can hardly be overestimated. A good many failures in seeding down the grasses result from insufficient preparation of the land, but many failures result also from the use of seed which has lost much, or all, of its vitality. Other things being equal, rich land requires more seed than poor land and seed laid more than 2 feet. A well-prepared seedbed requires less than one poorly prepared, because a larger proportion of the seed finds a chance to germinate. A single pound of timothy seed to the acre, if every seed produced a thrifty plant, would seed 27 plants on every square foot of land. Since 2 to 15 pounds of timothy are usually required to secure a good stand, it is evident that only a small proportion of the seed sown on even the best prepared land produces plants.

On rough, cloddy land the proportion is much smaller. No absolute rules can be laid down for determining the amount of seed to sow. One must consider all the circumstances and be governed accordingly. A beginner will do well to consult those who have farmed in his locality for many years, and if such experience is not available, to use a liberal allowance of seed until he has learned the proper amount.

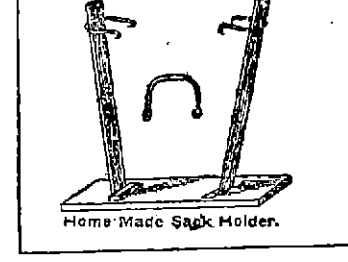

When mixtures are sown, a number of considerations govern the amount of each kind to use. In sowing grasses and clover together it is customary to sow enough of both for a full stand. But if several grasses are used in the mixture, the amount of each is usually somewhat reduced. In many of the timothy regions, it is customary to add more or less red-top to the timothy and clover, except when the hay is grown for sale; but the amount of timothy seed is not thereby reduced.

The amount of each kind of seed to be used depends partly on how much of each kind of grass is desired in the hay. Red-top is usually added as a filler to increase the yield, rather than because of its desirability in the hay, and hence the proportion of its seed is small. Some authorities recommend that nearly as much of each seed be used in a mixture as it were to be sown alone, and this is a very good rule if one is not sure of the quality of the seed. A general rule is to reduce the amount of each kind of seed in proportion to the number of kinds in the mixture. This rule should be used with much caution, yet it is a guide of some value.

HANDY SACK HOLDER.

Will Really Hold the Mouth of the Sack Open.

Take a heavy piece of plank 3x12 x2. This should be a good solid piece without any cracks in it. Now mortise two holes four inches long across the plank 26 inches apart. Now nail or bolt cross plank inside the holes. Make spring standards from oak or elm bonnis four inches wide and 48 inches long come out from the inside of these standards so they will form a spring not too stiff. Be sure to place them in the mortised hole firmly. Now, explains The Farmer, run three-eighths inch round rod 18 inches long. Curve the ends so they will hold one-half inch below them of sack. Use a flat clip to hold iron arm on spring standard. Place off all sharp edges from woodwork.

Home-Made Sack Holder.

Notes. The farmer "pays the freight" on the San Jose seeds. Many flower seeds are very small and will not do well in rough, lumpy soil. A new insect—the apple leaf miner, is getting in its evil work in some parts of the country. It is a mistake to keep food continually before the hogs after they have been put on full feed. No hog can get the quality of food which is fed in a trough. Suppose you sit down and tell us of an industry that will not be helped along with any help given to agriculture. Has the winter suggested any new ideas in household conveniences? How are your women folks cared for in regard to drying the family washings?

The Only Way. There is no safe method of determining the butter qualities of a herd except by testing or churning the milk of each cow separately. The bulk of the milk is not a sure indication. Very often the cow that gives but a moderate quantity of milk may yield the largest amount of butter. In breeding up a herd a knowledge of the characteristics of each cow will enable the dairyman to breed for the best results, as the superior cows may be used for breeding to thoroughbred cows. It does not pay to keep the calves unless the meat of their sires and dams are well known.

Be Careful of Mare. Colts are too valuable now to take any chances with their mating about to foal. Watch her moderately well to foal. Watch her, but don't put her to heavy hard work. Give her some bran, with some chopped feed occasionally. Keep her at night in a stall by herself, and don't turn her out in icy yards, or with other horses where she is liable to be hurt by a kick.

Gamekeeper's Complaint. A gentleman who had a shooting in a Scotland glen remarked to old gamekeeper that during the month they had had our good days. "Yes," said the old man, "but the Sabbath 'tapper' put three of them."

Bookshelf Certains. Pongee curtains are used effectively with oak bookshelves. If the curtains are placed on two sides, one at the top and the other at the bottom, the protection to the books is quite as efficient as if glass doors are used. The curtains should run easily, however, as otherwise access to the books is difficult.

Precaution Against Sewer Gas. A damp towel thrown over a stationary wash basin is said to prevent danger from sewer gas.

DESSERTS OF FRUIT

APPEZIZING AND HEALTHFUL LITTLE DISHES.

Chartreuse of Orange an Improvement Over the Usual Form of Jelly—Pineapple Marmalade and Peach Cream.

Chartreuse d'Orange.—Make a clear orange jelly with one and one-half pints of water, six oranges, sugar to taste, one and one-half ounces of gelatin; divide four oranges into quarters, have two plain molds, one about one and one-quarter inches more in diameter than the other; pour a little jelly in the bottom of the larger mold; place in this a layer of orange quarters, cover with more jelly, but just enough to get a smooth surface; set on ice to set; when quite firm put the small mold inside of large one, right in the center, so that the vacant place between the molds be the same; in this vacant place put more orange quarters, filling up. Place till the whole surface is filled. Jelly on the ice about one pint of cream with each half ounce of dissolved gelatin, and some sweetened orange juice, adding a little at a time, else the cream will not rise in a froth; when the cream is ready and the jelly is set, remove the inner mold by pouring warm water into it, and fill the space with the cream. Set on ice for an hour, turn out and serve.

Pineapple Marmalade.—Grate two large, fully ripe pineapples, and to each pound of the fruit thus prepared add three-quarters pound of loaf sugar, the juice of two lemons, and the grated yellow rind of half a lemon. Bring to a boil and cook quickly about one hour. Skim often and, when done, seal in small jars.

Peach Cream.—Wash two cups of canned peaches, rub through a sieve, and cook for three minutes in a sirup made of boiling a cup of sugar with one-half ounce of water. Have some of the package of gelatin. Add this to the sirup and cook until clear. Place in a pan of snow or ice water, beat until nearly cold, add whites of six eggs beaten stiff. Beat all the mixture until it begins to harden. Pour into mold, set on ice or in cold place. Serve with cream.

Banana Compote.—Make a sirup of four cups of water and four cups of sugar, add the rind of one-half lemon, two cloves, one each of stick cinnamon; cook ten minutes, then drop into the sirup six bananas cut into fourths. It is best to cook just enough pieces of banana at a time to cover the bottom of the sirup. When the fruit is tender, transparent and soft, take it up carefully, put into a pretty dish and pour over the sirup. Cool and serve with whipped cream, slightly sweetened and flavored with lemon.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS. A little ammonia added to water colored clothes are washed in will remove dirt easily. Use only hot water with a little ammonia added for cleaning paint. Ordinary kitchen soaps wear off the paint and do not clean it so quickly and thoroughly as ammonia. Use a good sand soap on obstinate places.

Lace may be easily washed and made white again if put to soak in a basin of warm water in which soap powder has been worked into a lather. Two or three of these warm waters in 24 hours will be found to cleanse very dirty lace without rubbing.

To keep an ice chest in good condition, wash it thoroughly once a week with cold or lukewarm water in which washing soda has been dissolved. If by chance anything is spilled in the chest it should be wiped off at once. Milk and butter very quickly absorb odor and if in the ice chest with other foods should be kept closely covered.

When a drink is left in the material agent as turpentine to remove a stain, make a ring all around the outside of the first ring by dipping the finger in chloroform and applying it to the material; keep rubbing toward the center of the circle with plenty of chloroform, allowing it to evaporate freely, and the ring will have disappeared when the spot is entirely dry.

Rhubarb Pie. Rhubarb is now plentiful in all markets, and the head of the family is pretty sure to ask for the sort of rhubarb pie "that mother used to make."

Two and one-half cups flour, one-half cup butter, one-quarter teaspoon baking powder, sift flour with powder; rub in lard and butter cold; add the water; mix into a smooth dough. One and a half bunches rhubarb, one and a half cups sugar. Cut fruit in small pieces after stripping off skins, cook it very fast in shallow stewpan with sugar. Line pie plate with the paste; add the rhubarb, cold; lay three bars paste across, fastening ends; lay three more across, forming diamond shaped spaces; lay around a rim, wash over with egg, and bake in a quick oven 15 minutes.

How to Clean a Light Suit. To clean light cloth suits buy two blocks of the best magnesia, lay sheets on the table, spread the skirt of your suit on it, rub into the skirt as much magnesia as it will hold. Treat the jacket in the same way. Let the suit lie folded in the sheet for a week or more, when it will be ready to brush and press. White felt hats cleaned in this way look like new.

A Hint About Silk. When silk is silmsy, its body may be restored in large measure by sponging with water in which an old glove has been boiled.

Faded silks should be sponged with warm water and soap, taking care not to apply the water too hot; then rub with a clean, dry cloth. Iron on a flat-board on the inside, this paper being spread over to prevent glazing.

Bookshelf Certains. Pongee curtains are used effectively with oak bookshelves. If the curtains are placed on two sides, one at the top and the other at the bottom, the protection to the books is quite as efficient as if glass doors are used. The curtains should run easily, however, as otherwise access to the books is difficult.

Precaution Against Sewer Gas. A damp towel thrown over a stationary wash basin is said to prevent danger from sewer gas.

A MISSOURI WOMAN

Tells a Story of Awful Suffering and Wonderful Relief.

Mrs. J. D. Johnson, of 603 West Hickman St., Columbia, Mo., says: "Following an operation two years ago, dropsy set in, and my left side was so swollen the doctor said he would have to tap out the water. There was constant pain, and a purging sensation around my heart, and I could not raise my arm above my head. The kidney action was deranged and passages of the secretions too frequent. On the advice of my husband I began using Dean's Kidney Pills. Since using two boxes my trouble has not returned. This is wonderful, after suffering two years."

AGE TOLD BY THE PULSE.

From Birth to Death the Beats Have a Steady Decrease.

How old are you? Ask your pulse. The human pulse has a wide range, even in perfectly healthy persons. The female pulse always beats faster than the male, and from birth to death the pulse beats steadily decrease. It has been found by great numbers of the pulse and sex of a person could be ascertained by the rate of the pulse alone. Babies at birth have a pulse beat of 160 times a minute in case of a girl and 150 in the case of boys. At the age of four or five the pulse beats will have fallen respectively to 110 and 100. Males and females men and women average 80 and 90. Mature men and women average 60 and 50. An old woman's pulse rarely, if ever, sinks below 50, but among men a pulse beat below 50 is quite common. There are, however, great variations, consistent with health. Napoleon's pulse is said to have beaten only 44 times a minute.

BLOOD GETS SOUR.

Gives Advice and Tells of Simple Home Mixture.

At this time of year, says a well-known authority, the kidneys become weak, clogged and inactive, failing to filter out the poisons and acids, which sour the blood, causing not only facial and bodily eruptions, but the worst forms of Rheumatism, Nervousness and Stomach troubles, indigestion and painful, annoying urinary affections.

It is worth anyone's time now to get from some good prescription pharmacy the following ingredients: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after your meals.

This simple home-made mixture will force the kidneys to normal, healthy action, so they will filter and strain all uric acid and poisonous waste matter from the blood, and expel this in the urine, at the same time restoring the "full blood count"—that is, 95 per cent of red blood corpuscles—which is absolutely indispensable to perfect health.

GONE FOREVER.

Ten years ago a farmer put his initials on a dollar bill. The next day he went to the nearest town and spent it with a merchant. Before the year was out he got the dollar back. Four times in six years the dollar came back to him, to produce and three times he heard of it in the pocket of his neighbors.

The last time he got it back four years ago. He sent it to a mail order house. He never has seen that dollar since, and never will. That is the bill will never pay any more, and he will never get it back. He sent it to the circle of usefulness to himself and his neighbors.

Patronize your local merchant who helps you to pay your taxes, support your schools and churches, and leads a helping hand in times of sickness and trouble.

Great Stunt by Geromimo. In a single day Geromimo, when in his prime, ran 40 miles on foot, 600 miles on one stretch, as fast as he could change horses, and so completely captured him that three sets of officers were needed to finish the chase, and not more than one-third of the troops who started were in at the finish, says a writer in Outlook.

Wrinkled and crafty and cruel is his swarthy face to-day, but the first of his internal beryl has been lost, and he is no more the relic of the Geromimo of whom Gen. Miles said after their first meeting: "He rode into our camp and dismounted, a prisoner. He was one of the brightest, most resolute, determined men I ever met, with the sharpest, clearest dark eyes. Every movement showed power and energy."

APPENDICITIS.

Not at All Necessary to Operate in Many Cases. Automobiles and Appendicitis scare some people before they are hit. Appendicitis is often caused by too much starch in the bowels. Starch is hard to digest and clogs up the digestive machinery—also tends to form cakes in the cecum. (That's the blind pouch at entrance to the appendix.)

ADVICE TO RHEUMATICS

Noted Physician Tells How to Prevent and Cure Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

(By Geo. Edmund Flood, M. D.) If you would avoid Rheumatism and Kidney and Bladder Troubles, be moderate in the consumption of meat, eat rich foods, substitute as far as possible soups, broths, fresh milk and drink water—lots of water. Take plenty of time to eat, and don't eat after you have had enough, even if it does taste good. If your work is confining take a moderate amount of exercise each day in the open air.

Of course, neither diet, water, rest nor exercise will cure these afflictions. I advise them as preventives only. For the benefit of the readers of this article who are now afflicted with Rheumatism, Kidney, Bladder or Urinary trouble, and desire to be cured quickly, I give below, complete and reliable, the famous prescription which has made me so successful in the treatment of these diseases. It is the most certain cure for these diseases that I have ever used. It is pleasant to take, it is not expensive, it can be filled by any druggist, and I believe it is the greatest prescription for Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder troubles ever written. It is also a valuable spring tonic and blood purifier. If you are a sufferer, save this, take it to your druggist and have it filled, or get the ingredients and mix them at home.

Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, 1/2 ounce. Concentrated Barkola Compound, 1 ounce. Fluid Extract Prickly Ash Bark, 1/2 drachm. Aromatic Elixir, 4 ounces.

Adult dose, take one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime; children, one-fourth to one-half teaspoonful after meals.

After you are cured follow the advice I have given you in regard to diet, exercise and water, and you will not need the services of a physician again for these ailments.

SKIN SCORSE EIGHT YEARS.

"Upon the limbs and between the toes my skin was rough and sore, and also sore under the arms, and I had to stay at home several times because of this affliction. Up to a week or so ago I had tried many other remedies, but several doctors, and spent about three hundred dollars, without any success. But this is today the seventh day that I have been using the Cuticura Remedies (costing a dollar and a half), which have cured me completely, so that I can again attend to my business. I went to work again to-night. I had been suffering for eight years and have now been cured by the Cuticura Remedies within a week. Fritz Hirschfeld, 24 Columbus Ave., New York, N. Y., March 29 and April 6, 1906."

DON'T GRUMBLE AT TRIFLES.

Twenty-five Bushels Wheat and Forty-five Bushels Oats Per Acre Are in Western Canada.

Saltrears, Sask., 8th December, 1906.

To the Editor. Dear Sir, I willingly give you the result of my four and a half years' experience in the District of Saltrears.

Previous to coming here I farmed in Baldwin, St. Croix County, Wisconsin, and as I have heard a great deal about the Canadian Northwest, I decided to take a trip there and see the country for myself. I was so impressed with the richness of the soil that I bought half a section of land about five miles from the town of Saltrears.

I moved on to the land the following June and that year took 30 acres, which I cropped in 1905, and had 25 bushels wheat per acre. In 1906, with an average of 160 acres, I had 24 bushels wheat and 35 bushels of oats per acre. In 1906, with 175 acres under crop, I had 25 bushels wheat and 45 bushels of oats per acre.

From the above mentioned yields I can readily understand that I am very well pleased with the Canadian West. Of course, I have had to work hard, but I don't mind that when I get such a good return for my labor.

To anyone thinking about coming to this country I can truthfully say that if they are prepared to work hard and not grumble at trifles, they will like it different, but take the country all round, I don't know where to go to get a better.

Yours truly, (Signed) O. B. OLSON. Write to any Canadian Government Agent for literature and full particulars.

A great moral awakening has aroused the conscience of the nation. The greatest human force for good in the United States during the past eleven years has been William Jennings Bryan—Mantowoc Pilot.

Senator T. W. Brazan came up from Madison on Saturday evening and spent Sunday and Monday in this city visiting with his friends and attending to business matters. The senator states that there are still about twelve hundred bills to dispose of before the legislature adjourns, but that they are grinding out the business quite rapidly and it may not take as long as appearances would indicate at the present time.

Roy Stringer was arrested on Saturday on complaint of O. C. McGuire, who claimed that Stringer had jumped a hoardbill at the Riverside house. The defendant pleaded not guilty to the charge and an adjournment was taken for one week to allow the defendant to secure witnesses and get ready for trial. Mr. Stringer had been selling insurance in this city for some time past and was at Tomahawk at the time of his arrest.

Chilton Times:—Hon. H. C. Wipperfurth, of Tulsa, Indian Territory, arrived here Friday night last to visit his mother and other relatives and friends. Herman was formerly a resident of this city and his old stamping grounds, where he spent about twenty years of his life, have some attraction for him. He received a warm handshake from old neighbors. He is practicing law and is now also engaged in the oil business in his new home.

A series of experiments of interest to railroad men all over the country is about to be begun by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road. An attempt is to be made to find out how the consumption of coal by the railroad can be decreased, and to this end a number of meetings of railroad men and coal haulers will be held. The coal for the St. Paul road, it is said, cost $3,500,000 for the eight months ending March 1, 1907, which is about a half-million more than the cost for the corresponding eight months of the previous year. Allowing for the increased tonnage, greater number of trains and other causes, the coal bill this year is said to have been much higher than for a year ago.

Hicks Says May is to be Stormy Month.

The Rev. I. R. Hicks predicts May weather as follows:

We repeat our warning given as an introduction to our May forecasts in our 1907 Almanac, that the astronomical outlook for this month suggests the probability of many and heavy storms. This must be understood as applying to all parts of the country.

A regular storm period, having its center on April 30, comes over into the 1st, 2d and 3d of May. In the 1st, 2d and 3d of May, in the extreme northern sections, unseasonably cold, with possible sleet and snow, from about the 2d to the 6th.

A reactionary storm period falls centrally on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the 5th, 7th and 8th. Decided storm conditions will cross the country on and touching the 6th, 7th and 8th.

A regular storm period runs from the 10th to the 15th, central on the 12th. We will name the 12th, 13th, 14th, and 15th, as central dates of severe storm probabilities. Change to storm cooler will start in the northwest about the 13th, and spread eastward.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 18th, 19th, and 20th. On touching these dates look for rapid and great change to falling barometer and warmer. A probable cyclone of daily rain, wind and thunder storms will set in about this time.

A regular storm period is central on the 23rd, covering the 22d to the 26th.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 24th, 25th and 26th.

Corn Growing Contest for Boys

Under the direction of Professor R. A. Moore of the department of agronomy, the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture has arranged a corn growing contest for boys under sixteen years in Richland, Dodge, Sack, and Vernon counties. The department has distributed seed corn of the best varieties to boys desiring to enter the contest. The conditions are that all the work be done by the boys themselves. The results will be exhibited at the fairs in these counties, where they will be judged by representatives of the college of agriculture. The purpose is to create greater interest among the young farmers in developing the best varieties of corn adapted to conditions in Wisconsin.

If not as rich as Rockefeller. If you had all the wealth of Rockefeller, the Standard Oil magnate, you could not buy a better medicine for bowel complaints than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy. The most precious physician can not give a better preparation for colic and diarrhoea, both for children and adults. The uniform success of this remedy has shown it to be superior to all others. It never fails, and when mixed with water and sweetened, is pleasant to take. Every family should be supplied with it. Sold by Daly Drug & Jewelry Co.

Tight Wads.

You're tight "em—tight wads, fellows, who would make the good wife wear the same old dress for ten or a dozen years, compel her to see the same old kitchen until a black cat might almost be thrown through the cracks in the griddle, never buy the kids books or games, stinky and untidy and whitening over the expenditure of every cent. When a fellow goes through life on this basis he must be prepared for any kind of grief; he must be surprised if his wife gets a divorce or dies of a broken or starved heart; he can't have any kick coming if his girl runs away from home and gets married and his boys want their time; he will be accorded scant sympathy if in old age he is compelled to take the weather beaten old wadded and tattered "over the hill" to the poorhouse; and he will get as much as he deserves if he is laid to rest in a job lot $7.49 coffin. Sickness and funeral expenses are to be borne with patience and fortitude, but not so stinginess and miserly selfishness. If you've been a crabbed, old, tight wad, loosen up before curiosity, sympathy and kindred instincts of the soul are entirely extinguished.

THE BEST WAY TO SAVE

After a number of years' study of the question, the Savings Bank of Grand Rapids, Wis., has decided that the BEST way to save money is to deposit in the Savings Bank a part of your income EVERY month, or every two weeks, or every month, or every three months, or every six months, or every year. The money is made. After this is kept up a few months, the expenses are adjusted to an income of $50, and the same as though that was all you received.

Only a plan of this kind will allow the whole income to be spent in the most extended explanation. Call and talk with us about it.

REMOVAL NOTICE!

I am pleased to inform my many friends and patrons that I shall move my furniture stock about May 1st from my present location to the brick building occupied for many years by Spafford and Cole, and for the past eighteen months by J. T. Schmacher as a general store. The reason for this change is that my business has outgrown its present quarters and I find it necessary to secure more room. My new location is a solid two story structure, with two adjoining buildings which will give me ample space for storage and a chance to display my stock advantageously.

UNDERTAKING.

With 20 years of practical experience as an undertaker, 4 years of which were spent in this city, I shall leave you to be the judge of my ability in that line of work. My aim, at all times, has been to treat my patrons justly, and to extend to them a liberal credit if necessary, for death oftentimes comes when we are least prepared for it. With many thanks for past favors, I beg to remain

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Joe Corriveau, Our Former Townsman Nearly Goes Up in Smoke.

The following item, from the Litchfield Daily Mining Gazette, tells of the narrow escape of Joe Corriveau from meeting a horrible death.

First he literally tore off his overcoat, flung it into the snow, and stamped on it frantically, jumped on it in fact, and ground it into the whiteness. Then, with a smothered curse, he came back, and it followed the first one, and was likewise trampled on. Next the vest was ripped off, and given similar treatment, and then he plunged his scorched, blistered hands in the cool snow, where the smothering numbness of cold was grateful to the burning flesh.

Does this picture conjure up before the mind of the reader a man, taken with a sudden fit of madness in the act of taking out his important rage on an inoffensive wardrobe? Well, might it be meant for that, though it does not in this case. It is a true account of the actions of a well known, well balanced, and very popular traveling man, who makes his headquarters in Litchfield, and undertakes a ride to Phoenix and Eagle River, and had the temerity to smoke Puffless in his pipe in the face of the cold northern wind.

It was Joe Corriveau, more popularly known as Koor X Joo, because of the excellence and flavor of the brand of coffee he dispenses. It seems as if Joe must have had one of the world-famous Hawley Down's shaft farcuses in that stumpy pipe of his, from the way it instantly belched forth smoke and fire, suddenly depositing the latter in its owner's overcoat pocket. Spark after spark wafted aloft on the breath of the wind, silently found lodgment in that pocket. And this same wind, because of the rapid motion of the traveler, fanned the fire, until significant sparks into a destructive blaze, which quietly, unostentatiously, but fearfully ate its hungry way through the material, and next flamed itself on the finer texture of the next garment. Some have wondered why it was that the owner failed to notice the small of the back of his coat before the destruction had found time to be quite so disastrous. But this he later explained, was due to the fact that he smoked a brand of tobacco, between the odor of which and the former there is a strong similarity.

In fact, all that saved the man from a fearful, lonely death on the snowy wastes, and a premature grave under nature's funeral shroud, is the sensitiveness of his heart. For when the fire on his overcoat downward way, had eaten through to the last division, a burning, stinging pain in the region of that faithful organ warned him that there was something wrong. Instantly he clutched the pipe, and saved his fingers. Then he realized that the burning odor, and the fact that he had caught fire. Then followed the rapid actions described in the beginning, the flinging of garment after garment into the saving snow beneath his feet, until of a certainty all danger was passed. Later they were put on again, the pipe was discarded, and the tale was told in Phoenix, where it required several good Havanos for hush money.

Thoughtful friends of the unwilling victim were not to be bought off, and when the clothes, showing a ragged, burnt hole suggestive of murder, in the region of the heart were spotted, every rascal at the popular hotelery knew that something was amiss, and they waited for the tale. In the meantime a tailor is working overtime, and Puffless has lost a disciple.

BETTER WAY TO MAN'S HEART HAS BEEN FOUND

RECENT EVENTS THAT SEEM TO DISPROVE OLD SAYING

SAY NO LONGER THAT IT IS "THROUGH HIS STOMACH"

LATEST LOVE ROUTE NOW IS "THROUGH HIS FINGERS"

New York.—The way to a man's heart—through his stomach—that's a dead letter now. The new love route is through his fingers.

If you doubt the suggestion read the facts.

All the pretty manly girls seem to be winning husbands just now because they can polish and prink up the finger nails of the rich young men who wouldn't dare to be seen at any dance or dinner after midnight without having their fingernails immaculately groomed.

The latest capture is William A. Dunlap, son and heir of the millionaire merchant—"Bully" Dunlap, as he is known around where men-about-town most do congregate, says the town.

Just before Easter there was a tentative announcement of his engagement to Miss Lavender Byers, the prettiest girl in a fashionable man-cure establishment on Broadway, which is conducted by Miss Mary E. Byers.

But Miss Byers is not the first of the young men who feel that it is absolutely essential to have their nails carefully tended.

Two other pretty young women have already put aside the nail parlor and the polisher for the pleasure of manning some rich young man's home. Two others of Miss Byers' staff have become the wives of wealthy patrons.

Tricked to Keep It Quiet.

Of course, inasmuch as Mr. Dunlap has been divorced once and sued for breach of promise by another young woman, he made every effort to have the engagement kept a girl's secret.

But somebody told it to somebody else, and that somebody else told it to a third person—and there you are!

Finally Mrs. Byers had to tell it to a few of her intimates, and then everybody knew. Mother and daughter have gone to Chicago where they were married in Milwaukee last week.

Young Mr. Dunlap, who has been around town now these fifteen years,

There was one quarrel after another. Finally after a particularly serious rupture, the young wife left her husband, and later there was a divorce.

For a time the young man devoted himself strictly to business. His father died, leaving a large estate, in which he shared very generously. He invested heavily in Nevada mining property, and his judgment proved sound. He turned over the money his father had left him with such care that he largely increased his own wealth; he became one of the most prominent young men in the Western mining field.

Of course, he couldn't stay in Nevada always.

He heard the call of the Great White Way and he answered it. Some months ago he ran overland for a few weeks in New York, and of course he had to have his nails fixed up after so long a time in the wilds of Nevada and its mining camps.

This was on March 7 last.

By chance Miss Byers was assigned to take care of young Mr. Dunlap's fingers. He found himself facing a tall, blue-eyed young girl, barely 18, who treated his nails so deftly that he was captivated at once. He glanced for a second time at the young woman who held his big hand so lightly in her own, and he was smitten very, very badly.

Became Regular Visitor.

He paid his fee and went away. Next day he was back again. His nails seemed to be bothering him very much, though the polish which Miss Byers had put upon them had hardly worn off at all.

There was another polishing and another trimming, and the young millionaire went away neither more nor less in love. And so Miss Byers' parlor saw the young millionaire there every day.

But there was a fly in the ointment—not the nail ointment, which was irreproachable.

It was a much more serious proposition. Just about the time that the young man got ready to lay his heart and his fortune at the feet of the prettiest girl in New York.

Mr. Dunlap was suddenly summoned West. He went to Nevada, leaving word for Mrs. Byers and her daughter to meet him in Chicago. They were there on time; so was he. Even then the two young people tried to keep the engagement a secret. In fact, both denied it, and so did Mrs. Byers. But the flowers and the notes that were constantly going up to Miss Byers' apartments told their own story. Then in a shower of rice the pretty bride went away on a honeymoon trip to Atlantic City and Richmond, Va., where her people live. By this time the family must know well the young and ardent bridegroom, who carried his suit by storm from manhood to matrimony.

When they came home Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap will live at No. 80 West One Hundred and Twenty-eight street.

"If she can make biscuits as well as the girl for me," laughed the young bridegroom, as they started on their wedding journey.

Then there was Spencer G. Prime, just graduated from the University of Syracuse. As soon as he got his sheepskin he married Miss Julia Burr, who had maintained his Julia throughout his college course. So some day Mr. and Mrs. Prime will live at the millions of his father, S. W. Prime. But what young Prime did was in no way different from another of his classmates, Homer Wheaton, who married a dainty little mannequin, Miss Florence Canham.

Wealthy Brewer Smitten.

Then there was Miss Lydia C. Moore, mannequin girl of the famous Hotel Bellevue-Stratford, Philadelphia. Here was a romance indeed. F. W. Schmidt is one of Philadelphia's millionaire brewers, and is regarded as one of the best dressed men in the city. He met Miss Moore at one of the dinner dances—among the smartest affairs in the slow city by the Schuylkill.

Imagine his surprise a month after when he went to the Bellevue-Stratford to have his nails fixed up to find that his college sweetheart was nothing but a mannequin. Then he became interested.

He found it necessary after that to have his nails manicured every day. And so doted did Miss Moore do it that finally she came into the hotel one day with a big diamond solitaire. Behind all this, too, is a romance.

Mr. Dunlap promised to marry her, but that he eventually told her that he couldn't. So she said, "Unless the suit has been settled in secret, just as Mr. Dunlap's divorce was obtained, the case is pending yet."

But this didn't seem to upset the young wooer. He told all and proposed to Miss Byers. She confessed her love then and there, and promised to marry the young millionaire any time he chose, no matter what came of the breach of promise suit.

It was all a whirlwind courtship. There was a daily mannequining and dinner or the theater at night.

Then the young people told Mrs. Byers. She was taken completely by surprise. She hardly knew the man she was to marry, and she was to be married to him more than that he sometimes

Then there was dainty little Miss Hannah Becker, who worked as a mannequin in a John street shop, Schmeer Victim of Cupid.

There came there one day young Edward Schmeer, son of a State Senator, William Schmeer. He wanted his nails polished and Miss Becker was assigned to the task. He was 21, good looking

YOUNG DEFENDER

BOY'S DESK AND WORK TABLE.

This handy article, as illustrated in the accompanying cut is so easily put together that any boy can make one for his room. The end pieces are 12 inches across and 30 inches high. The top is 27 inches long and 12 inches across. Each leaf is 112 inches wide and 27 inches long.

The two leaves are of the same dimensions as the top, the upper shelf being placed 11 inches below the top and the lower six inches above the floor. The upper one is designed for stationery, pens, ink and small articles, and the lower one for books, magazines or curios.

A clock, book, statuette or bric-a-brac can be set on top of the table. When closed the leaves protect the articles in the upper shelf from dust. When opened for use the table leaves are held up by means of two two-inch strips, 15 inches in length, one of which is fastened at each side of the stationary top, close to the edge, with a very large screw, on which it turns as a pivot.

If the table is to be set against the wall, suggests Practical Farmer, the cross-pieces at the bottom are best omitted, as they prevent the table setting close to the wall, but when used in the center of the room the braces at the bottom at right angles. Now try it again and see that it is right.

When all this has been carefully done, gum to the sides of the book thus made two leaves of "Dutch metal." This can be bought from a sign painter.

Then insert the cork with the wire and leaves into the bottle, and the instrument is complete.

To find out whether a body is charged with electricity, bring it near the metal disk, which is not touched. If it is electrified, the leaves of Dutch metal will fly apart, because the body draws to itself one kind of electricity and repels the other kind to the leaves. As they both become charged alike, they fly apart, because, in electricity, like repels like.

To know the kind of electricity possessed by the body we must go a step further. The electroscope must be charged with a kind of electricity that we know by touching the disk with a body whose kind we know.

We know for instance, that if a piece of wax is rubbed with a piece of tannin, the wax is electrified negatively. By touching the disk with this piece of wax we cause the leaves to fly apart, and on removing the wax they will remain apart a little while, if the instrument is properly made.

Now you bring the body to be tested near the disk without letting it touch it, the leaves will either fly together or more widely apart. If the former, the body is positively electrified; if the latter, it is negatively electrified.

Instead of the way just described, you can charge the electroscope by the body to be tested by touching the disk with the body, and then bringing near it a body whose kind of electricity is known. If the body be large it may be charged by means of a wire, as shown in the illustration, one end of the wire being hooked in the hole near the edge of the disk.

Why the Boy Didn't Go.

Congressman Champ Clark of Missouri has a very bright and precocious son named Bennett, who is about 13 years of age. The boy, like many other sons of members of the house, is apt to be on the floor when it is announced that his father will speak.

One day Champ Clark made a set speech, and it was quite a creditable effort, winning for him praise from both sides of the house. But Bennett wasn't there that day. The next time he showed up he was asked to explain his absence.

"Oh, pshaw," replied the lad. "I heard that speech no less than three times when mamma was teaching it to him at home. What did I want to hear it again for?"

All of which goes to show that statesmen will occasionally rehearse at home.

A Smart Lot of Boys.

If the boys of America wish to keep their reputation for smartness they must get a handle on them. Within the last year the boys of Japan, of whom over 15 years old, have turned out typewriters, telephones, pianos, door locks and some of the most ingenious mechanical toys ever placed on the market. Most Japanese boys have great natural skill with tools, and now a shop in Tokio run by a boy in which 50 other boys are constantly at work. A Chinese boy is almost too stupid to bait a fishhook, but a young Japanese is as sharp as a razor.

In almost every case he works at the bench all day and attends school in the evening to learn the English language.

Dot's Composition on Boys.

"Boys are men that have not got as big as their parents, and girls are women that will be taken by any boy. When God looked at Adam, he said to himself, 'Well, I think I can do better if I try again,' and he made Eve. Boys are a trouble. They wear out every thing but soap. If I had my way the world would be girls and the rest dolls. My papa is so nice that I think he must be a little girl when he was a little boy. Man was made, and on the seventh day he rested. Women was made, and she has never rested since."

Grandmotherly Care.

One day a little boy went in the country to visit his grandmother. That evening grandma picked a chicken.

"Oh, grandma!" the little boy exclaimed, "do you understand your chickens every night?"

Enough to Raise a Building.

A small boy, who was watching some builders making a road, said:

"My! What a lot of dough you make."

Strictly Correct.

Miss Boston—In what way? You didn't think he would say "graveyards yawn," did you?—Chicago Daily News.
